TRANSPORTING BURDENS.

Different Modes in Which Human Beings Carry Heavy Loads.

At the last meeting of the Anthropological Society, of Washington, says Science, Prof. Mason read a paper in which he described some of the more common ways in which man has made himself a beast of burden. The brief abstract given here presents some of the more salient parts of the paper.

In his prefatory remarks, Prof. Mason explained that this was a subject that had awakened his deepest interest, and that the paper he presented was but an introduction to other researches, by means of which he proposed to fully investigate and demonstrate the growth of commerce as carried on through the agency of the human body. That the aboriginal inhabitants performed great feats in the way of transporting materials is shown by the co-existence of raw copper on the shores of Lake Superior, and manufactured copper implements in the remains of the mound and cave dwellings in the southern part of the country. The same thing is true of the presence of wrought jade, which is found in China and in the Swiss lake-dwellings. Men and women were the first beasts of burden, and it is undoubtedly true that all aboriginal carrying was done on their heads and backs.

Even the improved state of civilized society has not extinguished all traces of this, for human carriers are still numerous. Hod-carriers have but recently, and indeed but partially, been superseded by elevating machines. The great progress of the time has been seen, continued Prof. Mason, that no one walks nowadays unless it is a prescribed exercise; horses, steam and electricity lend their aid to whirl people to their destinations. It is considered vulgar to carry a parcel; the humblest servant girl, buying a few cents' worth, may have her purchases taken home in a special delivery-wagon covered with forty coats of lacquer. It has been calculated that two million tons are constantly worn by the human race in the way of dress and ornament.

The paper then enumerated the various methods by which the various beasts of burden perform their carrying-tasks; first of all, the hand—the right hand. In speaking of this, Prof. Mason said that he has examined a great number of savage implements designed to be carried in the hand, and that the proportion of those shaped for use by the left hand was not greater than one to fifty. In no case did he find a left-hand female implement. Then both hands are used, after which the fingers come into play. As an illustration of the use of the fingers in carrying, Prof. Mason mentioned the summer-resort waiter, who bears his tray aloft on three fingers. The baidrie is next in order, slung over the shoulder by a strap, and hanging on the hip. In this way hunters carry game, and travelers carry small sachets. Then, still progressing, goods to be carried are hung to a belt. Hanging things on the arm may be called the retail method of carrying, and is used by farm-hands, servants, porters; in fact a large proportion of the people we meet in any place. While a civilized being will twist his form so as to get the load that is hung on his arm supported by his back, a savage will never be found doing so. Next comes the hanging over the shoulder, of which a good example is the universal sack of the negro vagabond, containing unclaimed property and other people's chickens. This method is used by grain-porters and hod-carriers.

The Oriental porters carry almost exclusively on their shoulders. A coolie's average load is a hundred pounds, with which he can make thirty miles a day. It is estimated that there are a million tons of material moved by coolies in China each day. Then both shoulders come into use, the load being placed round the neck; after which an easy progression is to the back, which is the natural carrying-place of the burden. The soldier, carrying his knapsack and rations, is a good example. Then loads are carried on the heads, a process called "toting." The negro is a domestic example, and dairy-maids are reputed to carry their milk-pails on their heads, and there many other illustrations of this mode of transportation. Certain tribes of Indians wear straw rings on their heads, and aid in bearing and balancing these great loads. Pockets, remarked Prof. Mason, are scarcely worth mentioning as a civilized means of transportation, although the flowing robes of a Chinaman are capable of concealing at least half a bushel of playing-cards—a capacity that deserves passing notice.

The carrying-power given by these various modes is augmented by means of combinations of men, in illustration of which the vast works in Egypt and other Eastern countries were cited. Men also carry goods by traction; that is, by drawing over the ground. First the arm alone is used, then a line is fastened to the object and to the person. It is held in the hand over the shoulder, or wound over the waist or over a pole. The hunter drawing home his game is a primitive example of this means of carrying. Throwing is sometimes resorted to as a mode of transportation, of which the negro method of handling watermelons by tossing them from hand to hand is a fair example. Durt and excavated material were at first carried in sacks, which have been superseded by shovels. The great necessities and the differentiating processes of civilization for rapid and safe transportation give rise to the professional carriers, among whom may be mentioned carriers, messengers, mail-men and peddlers.

Foods and Their Effects.

Some of the foods which have a tendency to constipate are condensed milk, tea, hard-boiled eggs, barley and rice water, thickened milk, toast, mutton broth, rice, corn-starch, potatoes and other starch foods, and white bread. Some of those whose tendency is to stimulate the alimentary canal to action are: coffee, oat-meal, Indian meal, soups, beef tea, sweet potatoes, fruits fresh and stewed, green vegetables, molasses, beans; graham, corn and Boston brown bread; graham and oat-meal crackers, and molasses cake. Some of these, such as beans, molasses, Indian meal, and even oat-meal, if given in large quantity or frequently, to the exclusion of a varied diet, will be likely not to really digest, and to give rise to diarrhoea, the formation of gas, and consequent discomfort and pain.

Suggestion to Builders.

A variety of materials—such as sawdust, dry shavings, cork shavings, etc.—have been used under floors for deadening noise. A late French suggestion is the use for this purpose of wood-shavings which have been dipped in thick whitewash. It is claimed that this substance has the advantages of being quite incombustible, an excellent non-conductor of sound, inexpensive, and of light weight when desirable to disinfest the space between the floor and ceiling, as in hospitals, chloride of lime may be used to saturate the shavings or added to the whitewash.

5 O'CLOCK EDITION.

AN interview will be found in another column with Francis G. Newlands on the mining, agricultural and stock interests of the State, but more particularly touching the irrigation question, which will prove interesting and instructive reading to those who have given the subject thought. Mr. Newlands' practical way of looking at it will at once be recognized as valuable. He views it from a disinterested standpoint in one way, being a new comer, and his ideas are entitled to careful consideration. On the other hand he has an interest in common with the rest of us, as he is contemplating the purchase of property here, and has no wish but our future welfare.

No one wants to check honest immigrants, but the New York Herald is right when it says: "There is but one fact which stares us in the face—we have a million or more men in this country who are idle, the labor market is glutted and the labor problem is a grave, important and very serious matter. Do we want our national resources taxed by the influx of paupers, criminals and the insane, and the country flooded with men who are willing to cut down wages to a starvation figure in order to get work?"

THE State Fair business has been settled, so we understand, by the Legislature agreeing with our representatives to appropriate $15,000 of the State funds if Washoe will give her bonds for $10,000 more and thereby clean up the indebtedness and start with a clean sheet. The cramped condition of the State Treasury makes it necessary for Washoe to put up in order that the Fair can continue, which she is willing to do.

As usual, Reno wants to take the State Treasury.—Carson Tribune.

Reno asks for nothing at the hands of the State Government. If the State has not pride enough, and the representatives have not business enough about them to see that State institutions located in Reno are properly looked after, it is no fault of Reno, and why the Carson papers insist on saying Reno wants this or that is a conundrum that jealous Carson can perhaps answer.

SENATE Bill No. 48 (the Reno water bill) is meeting with some opposition, and it is doubtful if it passes; certainly not in its present form. The people of Douglas are considerably exercised over it, and the farmers called a meeting for Saturday to discuss the proposition. Senator Osburn says he doubts very much whether the committee will report favorably or not.

WHEN highwaymen can break into a railroad train, rob, shoot and murder the passengers and then escape arrest, as the men did who robbed the Los Angeles express train near Pixley, in the San Joaquin Valley, the most extreme punishment should be visited upon them if they are captured.

THE Live Stock Journal, published at Cheyenne, Wyoming, claims that the over-rich grasses and the exceptionally mild weather in the British Northwest country are the causes of the fatal prevalence of blackleg in that region.

OUR representatives in the Legislature are not very thoughtful of their constituents. We have not received a dozen bills from any of them this winter. What bills we have received have come from other sources.

STANLEY, the African explorer, has more lives than a cat. He reported killed fifty times; he has since sent letters to Europe. Word reached Brussels from him Saturday.

Burned to Death.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 25.—A Wilkes-barre, Pa., special says that a terrible explosion occurred in a squib factory at Plymouth. Nine girls were burned to death and thirteen seriously injured.

The squib factory was that of J. S. Powell, employing many women and boys. Following are the names of the nine girls who were burned to a crisp: Kate Jones, Hetty Jones, Maggie Lynch, Glodie Reese, Mary Walker, Maggie Richards, Mary A. Lake, Ruth Powell and Esther Powell. George P. Reese was blown through a window of the building and fatally injured. Eight bodies had been recovered up to 3.30. It is reported that four girls are still missing.

It is now reported that nine women and two boys were killed. The cause of the explosion was not learned. Everything about the scene of the wreck is confusion and excitement.

CARBONVILLE, Pa., Feb. 25.—At Monkey Run last night a miners' boarding house burned, and Patrick Sweeney, and Sarah Ford, a domestic, were cremated.

General Dissatisfaction.

BOSTON, Feb. 26.—The widespread dissatisfaction of the boot and shoe workers attached to the Knights of Labor through the National Trade Assembly, at the treatment they have received at the hands of the general officers of the Knights of Labor, has culminated in a powerful movement in the larger shoe towns to sever their connection with the Knights Assembly. At Dover, N. H., and Haverhill, Mass., they have withdrawn from the order and have arranged to issue a call to members of the craft all over the country to do likewise.

The Walking Match.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 25.—The following is the score of the leaders at 8 o'clock, in the six-day race: Moore, 323; Howarth, 321; Pat Guerrero, 300; Hart, 314; Campana, 279; Vint, 270; Leahy, 233, and Goldkuhl, 177. The following is the score of the leaders at 1 o'clock in the six-day race: Moore, 340 miles; Hart, 334; Campana, 292; Vint, 292; Davis, 253; Leahy, 246; Broder, 193, and Goldkuhl, 180.

Steamer in Distress.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—In marine circles here it is believed that the vessel reported in distress off South Hatteras shoals on the evening of February 23 was the steamer San Antonio, of the Mallory line. She was due here last Saturday night. She carries a great number of passengers and is valued in the hundreds of thousands.

Should Have Been Cared For.

CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—Mrs. Lizzie McAuley, who killed her husband a year ago, was found dead in bed with her two children, aged one and three, this morning. She had smothered the children and then connected a rubber tube with a gas jet, taking the other end in her mouth. She had been crazy some time.

A General Illumination.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 25.—When President-elect Harrison's special train reaches Jannettie to-morrow, peculiar demonstrations in his honor will be witnessed. All the wells in the neighborhood will be lighted.

Formally Withdraws.

AUGUSTA, Me., Feb. 25.—Governor Burleigh has received a letter from Blaine, formally resigning the position as a member of the delegation to represent Maine at the centennial celebration of the inauguration of George Washington at New York in April. This is considered a Cabinet straw.

Heavy Loss.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Feb. 25.—Kelly & Lyle's great flouring mills and elevators, containing 200,000 bushels of wheat, were burned this morning. Loss, $500,000.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Feb. 25.—The elevators are not destroyed, but the loss on the mill and contents is $100,000.

Prospecting His Frontier.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 25.—A dispatch from Chardjui says the Amoor of Bokhara, with a large escort, has gone to Shahr-i-Sabz, near the Russian frontier.

After Recruits.

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, Feb. 25.—Captain Wiseman arrived here and proceeded to Cairo, where he will recruit several hundred blacks to accompany him on his expedition into the interior of Africa.

Congressional Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—The last week of the Fifteenth Congress was ushered in by filibustering in the House by Bland of Missouri, who raised the point of no quorum, upon the approval of the journal. He withdrew this and moved a recess of 30 minutes, and blocked business till 11 o'clock, when he withdrew that motion also. Peel of Arkansas, submitted the conference report on a proposed railroad through Indian Territory. Crisp of Georgia, in the interest of the California contested election case, raised the question of consideration.

The House on a vote by tellers decided, 127½ to 43, to consider the conference report. O'Neil of Pennsylvania demanded the yeas and nays, and not being able to muster sufficient to support the demand, he resorted to filibustering and moved an adjournment. Bland interjected a motion that when the House adjourned, it be to meet Wednesday. After some time the motions were withdrawn and the conference report was agreed to.

The Senate amendments were non-concurred in to the agricultural appropriation bill. Crisp then called up the contested election case of Ayres of Texas, in the interest of the deficiency appropriation bill.

The President has committed to imprisonment for life, the death sentence of Keekeda, alias Locote, a New Mexican convicted of murder and sentenced to be hanged on November 9th, but was respited. The pardon was based on the recommendation of the Judge and District Attorney in the case.

The House Committee on Appropriations recommended a concurrence in the following amendment to the sundry civil bill—making appropriations for salaries of Sheridan, Hancock and Logan, for lighting Washington Sound, Washington Territory, and for a survey of the Gulf of Mexico to select a site for a deep water harbor.

There is little prospect that the House will transact any business this afternoon. The Republicans are fighting the consideration of the contested election case and the Democrats against the Covells bill. Anxiety is felt as to the appropriation bill.

SENATE.

The bill appropriating $80,000 for a lighthouse at Hecate Head, Or., was passed.

The bill for the establishment of the light and fog signals at Humboldt, Cal., on a more secure site was amended and passed.

The House bill for a life-saving station on the Coquille river, Or., was passed.

The President has approved the Act to ratify the agreement submitted by the Shoshones, Bannocks and Lempiers on the Fort Hall and Sheep Reservations, Idaho.

A caucus of Republican Senators was held this morning for the purpose of deciding on the order of business during the remainder of the session, particularly what course will be adopted in regard to the Evans election resolution. It was practically decided, in view of the evident purpose of the Democrats to delay final action upon the election resolution until adjournment of Congress, to lay that matter aside temporarily from time to time and allow other measures to be taken up. They authorized Evans to appoint a committee to arrange a programme after a consultation with the Democratic Senators.

The House amendment reducing the pension of Mrs. Sheridan to $2,500 per year was agreed to.

A resolution was agreed to, authorizing the select committee on irrigation to take testimony at any place in the United States.

Farwell offered a resolution calling on the Secretary of the Interior for information touching the bribery of the Cherokee Council by the use of whisky and money by the cattle men. The words "by use of whisky and money" were stricken out and the resolution passed.

The Army Appropriation bill was then taken up.

Still Hopeful.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Representative Springer of Illinois, expects New Mexico to become a State before the close of the session. A bill for that purpose was favorably reported by the House Committee on Territories a week ago, but Springer has prepared a substitute which he thinks stands an excellent chance of going through. It is known that at least three Republican Senators are in favor of the admission of New Mexico. The Democratic Senators will be expected to support it as a matter of course.

Important to Breeders.

E. W. Crutcher has a very fine thoroughbred Clydesdale stallion for sale. He was imported from England by Jesse Harris, and is registered in the English Stud Book No. 3,498, vol. 71. This beautiful animal was foaled May 26, 1882, and weighs about 1,700 pounds when in condition. He works single and double, and is perfectly reliable and kind. Here is an opportunity seldom offered for some enterprising breeder to get a fine horse cheap. Horse men wishing to purchase a fine animal can do so by calling at the Thresher Stables and taking a look at Mr. Crutcher's.

HORRIBLE!

Putting Cayenne Pepper into a Man's Eye for Revenge.

From a gentleman who arrived from Bodie last Thursday evening the Emerald News learns the following particulars of one of the most outrageous acts on record:

Two men, J. W. Wasson and W. Thompson, got into a quarrel and had some hot words, but shortly afterwards adjusted all differences and were, apparently, the best of friends. About three o'clock Wednesday morning a friend of Wasson's started for Wasson's room at the hotel to see him on business. When he reached the hall leading to the room he noticed two men, whom he recognized as being Eugene Golat and the man Thompson, who had been the worst enemies in the town, and he rapidly ran and making for the street.

He went into the room and found his friend tied to the bed with ropes and apparently blind. Upon investigation he found that some person or persons had gone into Wasson's room while he was under the influence of liquor, tied him to the bed and filled his eyes with cayenne pepper. A doctor was summoned, and after examining the eyes, said that the sight of one of them was completely destroyed and the chances favorable that he would lose the other.

Oregon is one of the most productive States in the Union. Its vast mineral regions contain gold, silver, copper, iron and coal. Its immense tracts of grazing lands support thousands of cattle and sheep, and its extensive agricultural regions produce all the cereals in abundance, the yield per acre being, in some instances, the largest in the world. Among the useful and valuable products of the Western State may be mentioned Oregon Kidney Tea, which has proved a boon to thousands afflicted with pain in the back and kidney difficulties. It is purely of vegetable composition and never fails. Sold by Williams' Dispensary.
